

THE CONTAINED COMMUNITY'S ROLE IN THE LARGER SOCIETY: A SCRUTINY OF THE ROLE OF PROFESSIONALS IN SOCIETAL CRISES

By

Fred W.K. Kachero

KLA CONFERENCE 2008

The Contained Community's Role in the Larger Society: A Scrutiny of the Role of Professionals in Societal Crises.

By

Fred W. K. Kachero

Abstract:

This paper is a broad inquiry into relations between the contained communities of professionals and the larger society in suppressing or fomenting societal crises, with reference to Kenya. The larger society has given considerable discretion and power to the professions holding them to be nobler to give counsel and guidance to it. Indeed professionals have critical skills that give them power to build or destroy; they have used both.