

CV

I'm currently as customer executive at the customer experience information Centre.

I have many years work experience, during which I attended many courses and received certificates in customer care, communication and supervisory.

I'm a computer literate and a good team player, honest and of high integrity, having worked at the former International Telephone exchange, adds touch to the CV, particularly to the professionalism in handling both local and international clients.