

JB Ndohvu holds the BA, MA and PhD degrees from the University of Nairobi, Kenya. He has worked in administration and human resource management and as a lecturer in philosophy for over 15 years. He has a passion for aesthetics, ethics, rights and research. He is a co-founder of the Centre for Human Rights and Peace of the University of Nairobi and serves as the First Coordinator of the Centre. Since his appointment as the Coordinator four years ago, after serving as Secretary to the Organizing Committee from 2005, Ndohvu has overseen the conception, growth and implementation of Memoranda of Understanding for human rights and peace education at the University. He has served as the Faculty of Arts Open and Distance Learning Programme Coordinator, and Chairman of the prestigious Senior Common Room in the same University. His research areas include: Aesthetics in Africa; philosophy of human rights; and education rights and responsibilities. His latest research includes a Baseline Survey on the Status of Human Rights and Human Rights Education in Kenya, 2013. He is a co-Editor of Human Rights, African Values and Traditions: An Interdisciplinary Approach, Focus Publishers, 2011.