EXPERIENCE

I was attached to the Kenya airways electronic workshops for a period of five months beginning August to December 1998. During this period I worked on different electrical and electronic components from the aircrafts. From December 2003 to April 2005 I worked with saferider management systems as a technician installing speed governors and fleet management systems

From May 2005 to date, I have been working with the University of Nairobi as an ICT officer in the ICT department where my duties include,

- Installation of new, repair and servicing of existing telephone exchanges
- Installation of new, repair and maintenance of telephone extensions
- Installation and Maintenance of all direct lines in liaison with Telkom Kenya technicians
- Programming of the pabx to provide or remove level 9 facility, block certain numbers from being initiated by an extension and much more.
- Installation of VoIP phones

I have worked in all the university campuses in and around Nairobi; hence I am versatile with all the different communication equipment that the university owns.
