B. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

I am currently serving in the Department as a Lecturer since 2013 and a Specialist Obstetrician Gynecologist, Kenyatta National Hospital Nairobi, Kenya. I am a registered medical practitioner with the Kenya Medical Practitioners and Dentist Board and also with Specialist recognition as an Obstetrician and Gynecologist.

I hold a Bachelor of Medicine and Surgery Degree, Masters in Obstetrics and Gynaecology (M.med) of the University of Nairobi, 2011. In addition, I am a holder of a Master of Science (MSc) Degree in Clinical Trials of the London School, Fellowship in Operations Research, and Fellowship in HIV/AIDS in women, Postgraduate Diploma in Clinical Trials, Postgraduate Diploma in Biomedical Research Methodology and. I am currently a final year PhD student in the University Ghent, Belgium pursuing a Doctoral Degree in Medical Sciences (Research Topic: Tuberculosis and women). I have an interest and predilection to Gynecologic Oncology.

I joined the Department in 2011 as a Research Fellow and in 2013 as a full time Lecturer. I am involved in teaching and examination of both the Undergraduate and Postgraduate students in the Department.

I have supervised 13 postgraduate student dissertations to completion and currently, five students are under my supervision. I have published 48 papers in peer reviewed journals. I have attended many National and International conferences and short term trainings.

My outstanding contribution as a Lecturer in the Department is playing a leadership role in the innovation of MB,ChB undergraduate training (2013-2014) where I was one of the coordinators and played a role by maintaining quality and enhancing competencies in line with the University's Vision and Mission. The innovations include: innovative logbook development and implementation, decentralized training in Mbagathi District Hospital, use of humanistic models in the skills laboratory among others. From 2015 to date, I am the MMed year 4 coordinator, my key roles are setting of exams, coordinating didactic, clinical and research teaching.

Other responsibilities in the Department include: member curriculum committee in the School of Medicine, Member Department examination committee, Secretary Gynecologic Oncology Curriculum development and member Gender Based Violence committee in Kenyatta National Hospital. Nationally, I represent the School of Medicine in the board of the Kenya Bureau of Standards, Towels, Medical and Hygienic Textiles Products. Internationally, I am an Executive Board Member in the International Federation of Gynecology and Obstetrics (FIGO) representing Africa and East Mediterranean.
