

Mrs. Ruchia Ngila is a multi-skilled, performance-driven graduate in Business Administration, with a record of continuous advancement. She has a wide experience in the same field, with keen focus in Customer Care and public Relations. She is currently studying a Master's degree in Gender and Development, at the University of Nairobi. She has a background of Range Management, which enables her to work comfortably in different fields and communities. She is currently assisting in the general administration and management of the Animal Hospital in the Department of Clinical Studies, Faculty of Veterinary Medicine, in the College of Agriculture and Veterinary Sciences. This also includes matters of staffing, and preparation of veterinary students' practicals.